

Before You Sign

Helping consumers understand the real cost and consequence before buying financial products

Consumers often see the product pitch before they see the full consequence. The problem is that risk, fees, and suitability are usually unclear until after the purchase decision. Common pitch phrases:

- SAFE GROWTH
- 7% RETURNS A YEAR
- MONTHLY INCOME
- BALANCED FUND
- SUITABLE FOR YOUR PROFILE

Gap: product risk needs personal context

Same investment. Different consequence.

Person A

$125k liquid savings
$100k = 80%
20% fall creates serious liquidity impact

Person B

$1m liquid savings
$100k = 10%
20% fall may be more manageable

- “Safe growth” is too vague: it may mean capital preservation, lower volatility, income, FD-plus returns, long-term growth, or simply not losing sleep.
- Capital guarantee should not be assumed. Users should ask where the document states the guarantee and who provides it.
